

1. Cricket:
Cricket is a bat-and-ball game played between two teams of eleven. It has formats like Test, ODI, and T20, each with unique strategies. Bowlers aim to dismiss batters, while batters try to score runs. It's especially popular in South Asia, England, and Australia.
2. Football :
Football, or soccer, is the most popular sport worldwide. Two teams of eleven compete to score goals by kicking the ball into the opponent's net. It requires teamwork, stamina, and skill. Famous tournaments include the FIFA World Cup and UEFA Champions League.
3. Basketball :
Basketball is played on a rectangular court with hoops at each end. Teams of five aim to score by shooting the ball through the opponent's basket. It's fast-paced, with dribbling, passing, and slam dunks. The NBA is the most famous basketball league globally.
4. Tennis :
Tennis can be played individually (singles) or in pairs (doubles). Players use rackets to hit the ball over a net, aiming to win points. Matches are played on grass, clay, or hard courts. Grand Slam tournaments like Wimbledon and the US Open are iconic.
5. Badminton:
Badminton is played indoors with rackets and a shuttlecock. The shuttle must not touch the ground, making reflexes crucial. It's popular in Asia and Europe. Olympic badminton showcases singles, doubles, and mixed doubles events.
6. Hockey :
Field hockey is played with sticks and a ball on turf or grass. Ice hockey, played on ice with skates and a puck, is popular in Canada and Europe. Both versions demand speed, coordination, and teamwork. International tournaments include the Hockey World Cup.
7. Swimming :
Swimming is both recreational and competitive. Athletes race using strokes like freestyle, butterfly, backstroke, and breaststroke. It builds endurance and strength. Olympic swimming events are among the most watched worldwide.
8. Athletics :
Athletics includes track and field events like sprints, marathons, jumps, and throws. It tests speed, strength, and agility. The sport is central to the Olympics. Famous athletes like Usain Bolt have become global icons.
9. Volleyball:
Volleyball is played with six players per side on a court divided by a net. Teams score by grounding the ball in the opponent's area. Beach volleyball is a popular variant played on sand. It emphasizes teamwork and quick reflexes.
10. Table Tennis:
Table tennis is a fast indoor sport played on a small table. Players hit a lightweight ball with paddles, aiming to outmaneuver opponents. It requires sharp reflexes and precision. China has dominated the sport internationally.
11. Kabaddi :
Kabaddi is a traditional Indian sport combining strength and strategy. Players raid the opponent's half, tagging defenders while holding their breath. It's fast and physical, requiring agility. The Pro Kabaddi League has boosted its global popularity.
12. Wrestling:
Wrestling is a combat sport involving grappling and holds. It's one of the oldest Olympic disciplines. Styles include freestyle and Greco-Roman. Wrestlers aim to pin opponents or score points through techniques.

13. Boxing :

Boxing is fought in a ring with gloves. Two fighters compete in timed rounds, aiming to outscore or knock out the opponent. It demands strength, stamina, and strategy. Legendary boxers like Muhammad Ali and Mike Tyson made the sport iconic.

14. Golf :

Golf is played on large outdoor courses with 18 holes. Players use clubs to hit balls into holes in the fewest strokes. It emphasizes precision and patience. Tournaments like The Masters and Ryder Cup are prestigious.

15. Rugby :

Rugby is a physical sport played with an oval ball. Teams score by carrying or kicking the ball into the opponent's goal area. Variants include Rugby Union and Rugby League. It's popular in countries like New Zealand, England, and South Africa.